"Navigating Uncertainty: Global Shifts, Geopolitics, and the Future of Marine Insurance"

We are delighted to invite you to Nordic Marine Insurance Day 2025 on May 27, 2025, at IVA Conference, Grev Turegatan 16, Stockholm. This year's theme, "Navigating Uncertainty: Global Shifts, Geopolitics, and the Future of Marine Insurance," will explore how global protectionism, geopolitical tensions, and emerging risks are reshaping trade, the economy, and the marine insurance landscape.

The Future of Marine Insurance in an Uncertain World

Staying ahead is more critical than ever in a rapidly changing global landscape, where geopolitical tensions, economic uncertainties, and emerging risks are reshaping the maritime sector. Join us for an exclusive deep dive into the most pressing topics in marine insurance, where leading industry experts will share their insights.

Market Overview: Where Do We Stand Today?

Niklas Bengtsson, Chairman of the Marine Insurance Committee within Insurance Sweden, will open the conference with a comprehensive market update. Gain access to the latest figures and trends shaping the Swedish marine insurance market and get a glimpse of what lies ahead.

Navigating Uncertainty: Geopolitical Shifts and the Future of Marine Insurance

Under the guidance of Christopher Hesselbrandt, Portfolio Manager Marine – NORDIC REGION QBE, we will explore how global events are impacting international trade and the marine insurance industry. What new risks must we prepare for, and how can we navigate an increasingly unpredictable future?

Invisible and Visible Threats to Global Trade

With his expertise in military strategy and global risk analysis,

Joakim Paasikivi, Senior Geopolitical Advisor at MSA, will examine the threats—both hidden and apparent—that will shape world trade in the years to come. How has the world changed irreversibly, and what does this mean for the maritime sector?

Trade, Politics, and the Future of Shipping

Mats Persson, Head of Macro Strategy at EY UKI and former Special Advisor to the UK Prime Minister, will highlight how politics and geopolitics are increasingly shaping economic developments. With rising protectionism and shifting alliances, how can the shipping sector successfully navigate this new reality?

Is Europe Facing an Economic 'Trumpocalypse'?

As trade relations between the U.S. and Europe grow increasingly strained,

Henrik Blomqvist, Acting CEO & Secretary General of the International Chamber of Commerce Sweden, will analyse the potential economic consequences of the U.S. Are we heading towards a full-scale trade war, is there room for strategic negotiation, and what will the impact be beyond Europe and the U.S.?

Lloyd's Market: Past, Present, and Future

Howard Potter, Head of Marine at Aviva Global Corporate & Specialty, will take us on a journey through the evolution of the Lloyd's market. What has changed, what remains the same, and what expectations must marine insurers meet to remain competitive in an evolving business landscape?

A High-Stakes Legal Case: The Balticconnector Pipeline Incident

Dr. Jennifer Lavelle, Clyde & Co LLP will provide unique insights into the legal and operational challenges following the dramatic Balticconnector pipeline incident. From vessel arrests to international legal actions, this session will highlight the growing risks to subsea infrastructure and the complex legal consequences that follow.

Engage, Network, and Prepare for the Future

This conference offers more than just expert insights—it is a unique opportunity to connect, exchange ideas, and gain the in-depth understanding needed to tackle future challenges. The day will conclude with a networking dinner, where discussions can continue in a more relaxed setting.
